Don't get lost in the shuffle of managing your business

Running a distribution or wholesale business is no easy task. Stock is moving in and out of your storage locations. Some items sell quickly whilst others stick around for longer than you'd like. On top of this, buyers have become more demanding of timely deliveries. Consumers want their orders delivered in an instant and pricing from your suppliers can quickly change based on market rates, including exchange rates from overseas suppliers. How do you cope with all these changes?

On top of this, you're faced with multiple apps and tools all claiming to better manage your distribution or wholesale business. But nothing connects easily. Everything is retrofitted together at a high price. You're paying for APIs to be created and maintained; you pay consultants to make sure each system is talking to the other, while ultimately, questioning the whole time, "what's my source of truth?".

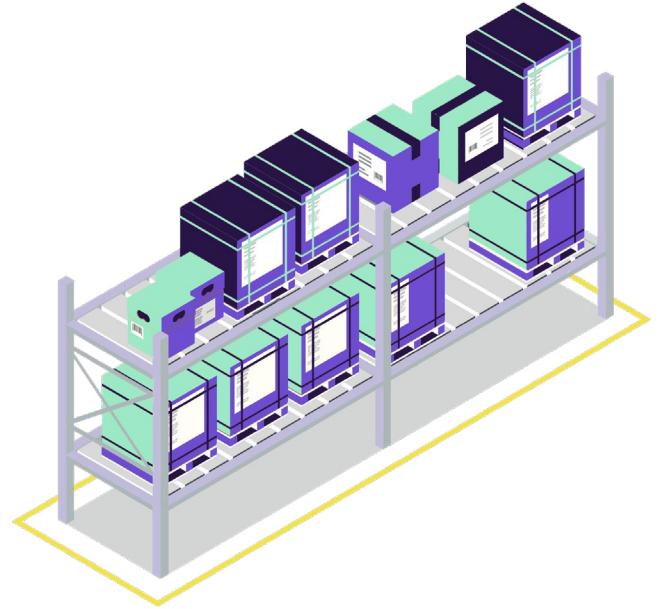

Business should be easier. Technology to run your business should be giving you the time to focus buying and selling stock in real-time.

A wiser way of doing business is here.

A wiiser way to run your business is here

Wiise is clever business software created by KPMG, built on Microsoft and supported by Commonwealth Bank. With everything in one hub, Wiise is designed to handle the complexity that comes with optimising stock, knowing the cost of every item and having a clear picture of your operations, so you can get on with running your business. See what items are moving the fastest and get clever re-order notices when Wiise predicts your stock levels are too low and you're at risk of missing out on sales.

See things clearly with Wiise

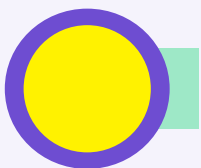

Optimise your stock levels

With average and standard costing options along with the ability to translate foreign exchange rates and import costs, you and your team will know the exact cost of every item so you can sell this stock at the margins you want.

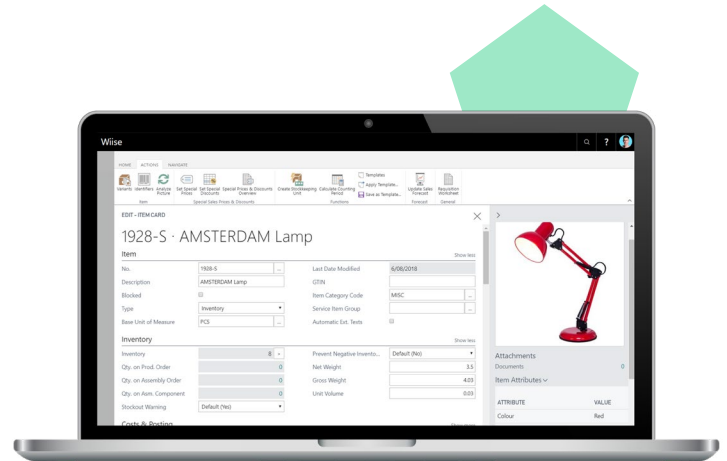

Find and (re)move stock when you need it most

With comprehensive warehousing and serial tracking, you'll know exactly where everything is without having to look at multiple systems. Be able to perform recalls when they happen rather than taking days trying to figure it all out.
